

Attention Coyote Trappers!

The DNR requests your assistance with radio-collaring incidentally trapped wolves

DNR wolf program staff are attempting to radio-collar incidentally trapped wolves in some parts of the state. If you catch a wolf while trapping coyotes we ask that you contact us. Program staff will evaluate the situation, and if practical, work with you to collar the animal before release.

Your assistance helps with wildlife management in Wisconsin! For questions or to report a wolf in a trap, please contact:

Nathan Libal
DNR Wildlife Biologist
715-401-1764